In 1979, then Longy Director, Roman Totenberg invited me to join the Longy faculty to teach several jazz improvisation courses. This new initiative was a very popular addition to the curriculum and soon grew into a full-fledged jazz and improvisation curriculum. The department has gone through several name changes over the years and has remained one of Longy's more distinctive and original departments.

After over 40 years at Longy I can honestly say that it has been like my second home. This concert is dedicated to all the wonderful students and colleagues I've come to know over the years.

-Peter Cassino
